

Supporting Music and Movement in Early Years Settings

What is HighScope?

HighScope is a well-established approach to early childhood education and care which is underpinned by development and learning theory and by long term research. It is an approach that identifies and builds on children's interests and abilities and is used internationally in variety of settings.

What is the Supporting Music and Movement in Early Years Settings Course?

This course based on the above publication focuses on the key developmental indicators (KDIs) of Music and Movement in the Creative Arts Curriculum Area.

The course gives an opportunity for participants to:

Identify and become more familiar with the Creative Arts Key Developmental Indicators of Music and Movement

Identify opportunities for including music and movement in their daily routines

Identify adult support strategies for introducing the KDIs relating to music and movement

Who is the course for?

This half day course is designed for early year's practitioners who support young children in preschool settings and will offer an opportunity for sharing of research and theory, discussions and active group work experiences.

Publications relating to the course will be included as part of the course
